Peek Inside the Book

So I do not pray. I accept the means at my disposal for working out my destiny. It seems to me that I have been given a mind and will power for that very purpose. Zora Neale Hurston, Dust Tracks on a Road //

I am not tragically colored. There is no great sorrow dammed up in my soul, nor lurking behind my eyes. I do not mind at all. I do not belong to the sobbing school of Negrohood who hold that nature somehow has given them a lowdown dirty deal and whose feelings are all hurt about it. Even in the helter-skelter skirmish that is my life, I have seen that the world is to the...

Theres a lot of good stuff in here: Hurstons early life as a wide-eyed, scrappy little girl; growing up into an intrepid young woman, hungry to know the world; finding great music and great literature. And she sure does know her way around a turn of phrase. Look at these gems: "I have been in Sorrow's kitchen and licked out all the pots." "To...
