

THE FOG OF WAR: CENSORSHIP OF CANADA'S MEDIA IN WORLD WAR II

Historian and journalist Mark Bourrie is the first researcher to gain access to all of the files of Canada's World War II press censors: Nazi spies in Montreal and Ottawa. U-boat attacks in the St. Lawrence. Japanese balloon bombs drifting over the Rockies and onto the Canadian Prairies. Army mutinies in British Columbia and Ontario. Pro-Hitler propaganda...

Reader's Opinions

Interesting book that contained much detail about how the release of information during the wars that Canada had participated in. It was a lot of research on the author's part and also showed how the information imparted to the nation was censored to provoke patriotism.
