

HOLIDAY IN DEATH

IN A FUTURE WHEN COMPUTER TECHNOLOGY BRINGS LOVERS TOGETHER, DATING CAN BE A DEADLY GAME...No one likes to be alone during the holidays. And for New York's most posh dating service, Personally Yours, it is the season to bring lonely hearts together. But Lieutenant Eve Dallas, on the trail of a ritualistic serial killer, has made a disturbing discovery: All of the killer's victims have been traced...

Peek Inside the Book

He's not your type."Peabody's face clouded exactly as it had when Eve had rejected the perfume. "How come - I like looking at his type.""Sure, but try to have a conversation with him." Eve dipped her hands in her pockets and rocked back on her heels. "Guy's in love with himself and figures every woman who gets a load of him has to go moony eyed - just like you're doing. He'd bore you to death in ten..."

Eve engaged her On Duty sign and stepped out of the car. Immediately her ears were assaulted with a blast of music. Christmas carols pumped, full blast, into the air. She decided that people ran inside, ready to buy anything, just to escape the noise. J.D. Robb, Holiday in Death //

Reader's Opinions

4.5 stars, loved it so much. I love watching Eve catch bad guys and seeing her being protective of those she's claimed as her family, even if she still goes about it the wrong way....

This was one of the creepiest homicides in the series in my opinion. And not because murders were pretty damn graphic (I think they all are?) but the 'scene' or 'setting' the killer creates is so disturbing (especially during the holidays omg). On another note, I'm sensing some cuteness between two secondary characters though, and I...
