Reader's Opinions

A good book about young women doing unusual hobbies (researching in Antarctica, school-building in Thailand, ect), how they started out, and what they gained from the experiences. Better yet, it tells interested young ladies how they, too, can start down these interesting roads. I like reading about doing fun things, but I like doing...

This book had some really cool biographies and I enjoyed reading about experiences of girls following their dream, a couple including things like skydiving from helicopters 15,000 feet in the air, or swimming over a day straight without sleeping. It is amazing what girls in this book have done!
