Peek Inside the Book

Its like the songs small children sing. Shit and piss. And blood, and sperms and slime and vomit and pus and snot and sweat. Janwillem van de Wetering, Tumbleweed //

Reader's Opinions

Maria van Buren is found dead in her boathouse on an Amsterdam canal. Grijpstra and de Gier must solve the murder. Her regular clients have sound alibis. Before the murderer is caught the detectives and their commissaris will investigate allegations of black magic, travel to Curacao, and pursue their clues to an island off the coast...

Charming! Not a word I would ever have dreamed of using for a murder mystery. This book was written in 1976 and depicts Amsterdam as a place where not much ever happens when it comes to serious crime. But there's been a murder and it needs to be investigated. The police officers involved are so seemingly inept that I began to seriously...
