

ALL THE BEGGARS RIDING

From the author of The Meeting Point (winner of the Dylan Thomas Prize, 2011) comes a powerful exploration of love, desire and family. When Lara was twelve, and her younger brother Alfie eight, their father died in a helicopter crash. A prominent plastic surgeon, and Irishman, he had honed his skills on the bomb victims of the Troubles. But the family grew up used to him being absent: he only came to London for two weekends a month to work at the Harley...

Reader's Opinions

From BBC Radio 4 - Book at bedtime: If wishes were horses, beggars would ride. (Trad.) After the death of her mother, Lara Moorhouse finds herself besieged with questions about her childhood that she never had the courage to ask her mother when she was alive....

A moving, well-crafted novel about family and betrayal, which more than lives up to its poetic title. While taking a creative writing class, a woman faces up to her past - her father, who died years before, was already married with another family. Author Lucy Caldwell looks...
