

NO MAN'S NIGHTINGALE

A female vicar named Sarah Hussein is discovered strangled in her Kingsmarkham vicarage. Maxine, the gossiping cleaning woman who discovers her body, happens to also be in the employ of retired Chief Inspector Wexford and his wife. When called on by his old deputy, detective inspector Mike Burden, Wexford, intrigued by the unusual circumstances of the murder, leaps at the chance to...

Reader's Opinions

I wanted to like this book more than I did. The various characters and the changes in small town English life that affect them were interesting and added texture to the book, but the plot was wobbly and gradually ran out of steam. Perhaps I would have liked it better if I had read some of the preceding 23 books in this series!

A good, standard, Wexford mystery in which, when retired, good old Reg tries to help solve a murder mystery involving a female vicar. However, I did find it a bit convoluted in places, as if Ms Rendell had...
