

THE HOUSE OF JOURNALISTS

A fashionable house in a London terrace, the House of Journalists is renowned around the world as a place of refuge for exiled writers who have fallen foul of oppressive regimes. Run by Julian Snowman, successful writer and broadcaster, its fellows include the newspaper editor Mr Stan whose hands were smashed with hammers; a journalist called Mustapha who spoke out vainly against a brutal coup (and got his name from an immigration officer who tells him he 'Must 'ave a name'); Agnes, a young...

Reader's Opinions

Very interesting book , esp in the context of what is happening these days with the refugees fleeing Africa on boats to Europe. Here we have the refuge, in the so called house of Journalists, where asylum seekers, who have fled their countries due to torture for their anti government writings or photographs, live in a gilded detention...
